
Does anyone have ideas for the wedding invitation

Posted by Klondike - 2009/02/17 13:28

I along with my fiancée have decided to ask our wedding guest not to bring any gifts for us and in spite of it do pay for their own meals at our wedding ceremony. I am finding it tough with the text as how to mention our idea on our wedding invitation card? Has anyone else ever tried this concept? Need your thoughts and suggestions on this.

Yes I think it is a good idea and consider it as very approaching one. I think it won't be creating any kind of inconvenience to the guest. For the specific text which you are looking is really little bit difficult to search but I know a site www.MonogramWedding.com that deals in complete designing including text for wedding invitation cards may help you to provide a good poetic theme on your idea to invite guests. Hope you will get a good poem for your card.
